A Brief Sketch of the Life of Joseph M. Rees.

Following is a brief sketch of Joseph M. Rees, who died July 21st. It will doubtless be found of interest, as Mr. Rees was one of the old settlers of Omaha, and had many friends in this city:

Joseph M. Rees, deceased, was born in the state of Pennsylvania, and at the time of his death was in the 624 year of his age. He came to Omaha in company with his brother Thomas in the year 1856, and engaged in the hardware and stove business, at which he continued for several years. At the breaking out of the rebellion he returned to his native state with the express object of enlisting as a soldier under the call of President Lincoln, and at once joined a company as a private and went to the front, being placed in "Sickles' fighting brigade," where he was soon promoted to sergeant. He served in the Peninsular campaign, at South Mountain Antietam and Gettysburg. He was in all the principal battles fought in Vir-ginla-was in the seven days' fight in the wilderness; was wounded at Spottsyl-meeting be hereafter publicly designate vania in consequence of which he lost the Chas. F. Manderson, John S. Collins, use of one leg. After remaining in the Geo. L. Miller. E. Rosawater. hospital at Philadelphia for some time he John C. Cowin, concluded that a cure of the injured Jas. W. Savage, member could not be attained and he returned from there to the home of his brother Phillip in western Pennsylvania, where he sojourned for a short time. In the year 1865 he returned to Omaha to I also ask that at the hour designated, find that in his absence traitors to right and during the progress of the meeting, and justice had despoiled him of the business be suspended. greater portion of his property. Yet through the efforts of the late Judge Clinton Briggs remnant was saved, which he a few years ago laid out as an addition to the city giving it the name of "Rees Place," a most beautiful location on the line to Hanscom park. During his Illness, and for some time previous he resided with Mr. M. Donnan, where he was tenderly cared and prescribed for by Dr. J. P Peck and watched over by Mr. D. B. Houck and others, but all was of no avail; the destroyer claimed him as his victim and he departed only a few days previous to his old commander. In the death of Mr. Rees which took place July 21st, the country has lest a loyal citizen and society a straight forward, honest man. He leaves behind him his brother in western Pennsylvania, and one sister in Belleville, Ohio. To the latter place his re mains were taken to be buried alongsid his mother and other relatives. Mr. George Talbot.—Old Friend:—Hearing where you were yesterday, I drop these few lines to you and may they find you well, but it leaves me the most miserable of unfortunate men. George, I came to Nebraska in 1873 and took up a homestead, and in five years I had a good farm, but about that time things turned against me and I lost all I had and am brought to the grave all through a false and treacherous and deeperate woman. She commenced a her treachery twenty years ago. It was the third time she had tried it o. It was the third time she had tried , and it made a crazy, insane man of me George, if it had not been for my little chi dren I would not be in this fix. You will fin dren I would not be in this fix. You will find out my trouble George, and I know you car sympathize with me in my misfortune. Yours in distress, low the News of Gen. Grand's Death Was Received in Omaha.

The City in Mourning-Mayor Boyd's Proclamation-Reminiscences of Gen, Grant's Visits Here,

The news of the death of General Ulysses S. Grant, received in Omaha few minutes after 7 yesterday morning, -Col. Frank Sims, of the Paxton colored caused a feeling of deep and unaffected sorrow to pervade the entire community -a sorrow which is alike the sentimen charge of intoxication, she was not really nof all classes. The old hero's brave and prolonged struggle against the fate which at length has claimed him has been watched with intense interest here a well as elsewhere, and the announcement that he had at length succumbed was received with a grief which well shows the place of admiration, love, and esteem, that the "hero of Appomattox" held in th the announcement died away when prepathe city in mourning. Be-fore noon most of the business houses and stores of the city were draped with black cloth, in token of the sad bereavement which had fallen upon the nation in the death of the 'old commander." The court house columns on the north entrance were draped with were tastefully draped, as were also the lifferent engine houses throughout the city. At the military headquarters, and the and Millard hotels, and a number of prominent business houses, the United States flag floated from half-mast. The Paxton hotel balcony was hung in lack bunting. The BEE office was also draped with black bunting. The large picture General Grant which was painted in 1879, and used in the decoration of the building during his last visit here, was again brought forth, and heavily feaconed with crape and hung on the fron of the building. The day was one of fitful weather. now partly clear and now gloomy—nature herself seeming to respond to the univeral feeling of the hour.

MAYOR BOYD S PROCLAMATION. MAYOR'S OFFICE, July 23, 1885. The people of this city have heard vith profound sorrow the grievous intelligence of the death of Ulysses S. Grant. As mayor of Omaha I deem it my duty to suggest, what I believe every citizen low feels, that a public meeting should e held for the purpose of expressing our prrow at the sad ending of the eventful life of America's greatest soldier, "A man who was never defeated in peace or in war." I therefore request that the following named gentlemen act as a committee of arrangements for the above purpose, and that the time and place of meeting be hereafter publicly designated. eo. L. GEN. GRANT IN OMAHA. The last time that Gen, Grant was in Omaha was in November, 1879. On the third day of the month he entered this city, on his return from his tour around the world, and a grand reception was ac corded him, for which special and elaborate preparations had been made before The afternoon on which th hand. special Grant train arrived was observed a holiday, and the streets were thronged with people, both of the city for the murder of Mrs. Smith. Mr and from a distance, all eager to catch a glimpse of the "great commander."

At precisely 12:15 o'clock in the afteroon an artillery salute fired by a detachment of artillery from Fort Omaha, stationed on the hill near St. Joseph's hospital, announced the approach of the special train having on board Gen. Gran and his party. In an instant afterwards balls commenced to ring, whistles to shrick, and everywhere there was the greatest commotion, wild enthusiasm revailing in all quarters.

Gen. Grant was received by a commit ee composed of Senator Alvin Saunders, Mayor Chass, Hon. P. W. Hitchcock Judge Savage, Gen. J. C. Cowln, Hon. A. D. Jones, Hon. J. I. Redick, E. losewater, C. E. Yost, Dr. G. L. Miller, W. A. Paxton, Ezra Millard, Henry Pundt, G. A. Collins, Fred Metz, Hon. A. J. Poppleton, LJudge Wakeley, John Baumer, Col. R. H. Wilber, Gen. Wil lame, Hon. Lorenz > Crounse, Gen. Geo. M. O'Brien, T. L. Kimball, Herman Kountze, S. H. H. Clark, A. E. Touzalin, Gen. C. F. Manderson, E. R. Over-all, S. S. Caldwell, P. P. Shelby, I. S. Hascall, Frank Murphy, Taos. F. Hall, Sec. Guy, C. H. Dewey, Capt. Crager and Capt. Simmonds.

A grand procession composed of the various societies, military and civic orders of the city, was formed and escorted Gen. Grant to Capitol hill, where a vast concourse of people vari-ously estimated, at from 10,000 to 12. 000 awaited the arrival of the distinguished man. Brief addresses were delivered by Gov. Nance on behalf of the state, and Mayor Chase for the city. A reception was then beld at the custom house, by Gen. Grant assisted by Mayor Chase and Senators Saunders and Faddock. The party was then escorted to corriages and

'grand review of the parade was made

Gan, Grant. Saturday evening a supper was given o the distinguished visitor at the Withnell house. Speeches were made by Gen. Manderson and Senators Paddock and Saunders, to which Gen, Grant made a orlef and modest raply in his characteristic way. On Sunday Gen. Grant was the guest of Gen. Crook at Fort Omaha, and on Monday morning at nine o'clock he left the city for the east, in company with his party.

The city was mganificently decerated n honor of Gen. Grant's arrival, a beauiful triumphal aren in triple form, covered with flags, bunting and flowers, being s special feature of the decorations—the whole strangely and sadly in contrast with the funeral emblems of sorrow in which the city is now draped.

Gen. Grant has been in Omaha three times before this-once in 1867 with Sherman and Sheridan, Again a few years later he passed through the city at night from the west, and again when h was president he was in Omaha wit wife, and made the rounds of the city in a carriage with Col. Chase who was then mayor. He was at all dimes a warm friend of our city, and a irm believer in its ultimate greatness.

When Gen. O. O. Howard was in th east upon his attendance of the Hazen first announced to the public generally in court martial, he called upon Gen. Grant, then on his sick bed at New York. Gen Howard had a short pleasant talk with the dying commander, and alluded feelingly to fthe fact yesterday. Speaking of the preparations which the military representatives at this point might make for the local celebration of Gen. Grant's funeral, Gen. Howard said that he was awaiting the orders of the Secretary of rations were at once set on foot to place War on the subject, which will undoubt edly soon be issued.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS.

Something About the Progress of Paving and Grading.

The work of public improvements of 1885 is well under way. While, of course there will not be so much done this year in the way of paving and grading as last, still the showing made will be very respectable.

A reporter for the BEE has made a tour of the city, in various directions, and the results of his observations of the progress of public improvements are given

Cuming street, from Twentleth to Division, is now being paved with asphalt. The work is progressing rapidly, and the Cuming streeters claim that when the paving is finished they will have one of the finest thoroughfares in the

This year will also witness quite change in the appearance of St. Mary's avenue. It has been paved from Forest street to a point 330 feet west of South venue, and is to be paved from that point out to Phil Sheridan street with asobalt.

Farnam street, between Eighth and Ninth, is being paved with Colorado sand stone. Howard street, between the ame limits, is being paved with Sioux Falls granite. Sixteenth stree', between Farnam and

Douglas is to be paved with Sloux Falls Twelfth street is under contract to be saved from Howard to Jackson street with asphalt. Thirteenth street, from the bridge to a point as far out as Hickory street, is to be paved this season as soon as the present dispute concerning the material to be used is settled.

In North Omaha the work of grading as so far progressed as to wipe out the nilitary and Saunders street bridges. The grading is being paid for by private partles, and the expectation is that every race of the quicksand and the unsightly ditches will soon be obliterated by the work of improvement.

The construction of the north sewe past Seventeenth street will enable that horoughfare to be graded so as to make n open street from north to south. City Engineer Rosewater, in conversa-ion with a reporter remarked upon the ection of the council in passing measures allowing the people to vote upon the saue of $50,000 worth of bonds for intersection fund, and said that if the onds were issued a paving fund of $200, 000 would be created, (by taxes upon ad joining property) most of which could be used this year.
